VISION TECHNOLOGY SERVICES TAPS CYTO

Columbia, Md. – Vision Technology Services, one of the mid-Atlantic region’s leading information technology consulting firms, partners with leading clients to provide technology professionals and IT services. Vision selected Cyto Communications to design and facilitate a communications planning workshop focused on the integration of the company’s workplace and marketplace brands.

“Vision Technology Services has an incredible client list,” said Cyto Communications managing partner Rich Badmington. “And the only way to keep demanding, top tier clients happy is to deliver a level of quality consultants and consulting services equal to the expectations the company has built over the years. We believe we can help them sustain that record of performance,” said Badmington.
